89%

of IT and cybersecurity professionals rank ransomware as a top-five threat to the overall viability of their organization.

IT leaders must acknowledge the grave danger that ransomware poses to their organization's operations. They need to treat it as an existential threat and proactively prepare themselves to thwart any potential attacks and their dire consequences. This imperative applies to companies of all sizes.

This InstaGraphic was created by Enterprise Strategy Group on behalf of:

DELLTechnologies

LEARN MORE